Faculty advising responsibilities:

1. Have a working knowledge of campus policies and procedures relating to student organization as well as an interest in the student organization for which you are an advisor.
2. For new organizations, assist as needed in the development of the group's mission statement and constitution and in other steps needed for the group to gain formal recognition by the SGA. For existing organizations meet with new officers at the beginning of each academic year to determine whether the group's mission and charter are still appropriate and to help student leaders set goals for the year.
3. Keep abreast of topics/areas to interest for the organization.
4. Where relevant, serve as liaison between the student organization and any external agencies with which they may be affiliated, assuring compliance with campus policies and procedures.
5. Be aware of all social and formal functions, whether on or off-campus, and participate in group functions when possible, providing guidance to student club leadership.
6. Encourage and support club leadership and initiative within the specified organization.
7. Be the faculty advisor for no more than two clubs.
8. Be at least a 0.2 FTE faculty member whose primary work site is located on campus.
